GERMAN CHANCELLOR MARX VERY OPTIMISTIC

THINKS ALLIED PARLEY WILL BE SUCCESSFUL

MEETING IS MOST IMPORTANT SINCE VERSAILLES TREATY WAS SIGNED

ALLIES TREATING GERMANY FOR FIRST TIME ON EQUAL TERMS

(By United Press)

London, Aug. 13.—"I think the conference will be successful on all points," Chancellor Marx of Germany said today, in an exclusive interview granted the United Press.

"This is the most important meeting since the treaty of Versailles was signed," Marx continued, "and for the first time—I repeat, for the first time—the allies are treating us on equal terms."

The German chancellor seemed to consider this the most important factor in making for a successful outcome.

"I am very glad to say," he volunteered, "that Premier Herriot, notwithstanding great opposition in certain political circles in France and even in his entourage, has stood firm.

"The majority of the French people want peace and quiet."

Asked concerning the all-important conference on military evacuation of the Ruhr, Marx said:

"It is essential—as far as we are concerned—and it is closely united with the application of the experts' plan.

"We hope to sign a treaty by tomorrow, or at least by Friday morning, but this agreement is only preliminary to future conferences between Germany and the Allies singly.

"The commercial treaty to be consummated with France," the chancellor said, "is one of the highest importance to both countries.

"If the comite des forges, which represents the highest political factor in France, is willing to come to an agreement the treaty will be one which will give both countries reciprocity," he added.

Marx, however, evaded the question of whether France would be "a most favored nation," contenting himself with saying, "Germany never can grant free entry of ore and potash into the Ruhr, nor can she make the two great concessions in the matter of delivery of dyestuffs and so forth."

The German loan, he said, will be discussed at "the next conference," as he thinks the prseent conclave will not treat the question.

Marx thinks the proposed loan to Germany and a conference on mutual reduction of inter-allied debts are closely allied, and the best way to restoration and reconstruction in Europe would be for the United States to relinquish claims for sums borrowed by the Allies.

University Students Are Quizzed as to Their Petting Habits

New York, Aug. 13.—"Do you think it all right to indulge in any amount of petting?

"Do you consider yourself an experienced flirt?

"Has any man ever made love to you?

"Is your sex emotion aroused by the average musical comedy?"

These were among the 116 questions distributed to students of both sexes at the Columbia university summer school in an effort to determine the value of the questionnaire method, insofar as it concerns truth telling.

The questionnaire was prepared by Miss Ethel Goldsmith of Cincinnati, who is working for a Ph. D. degree at the university.

The result of her experiment is to be made the basis of her doctor's dissertation.

Some of the other questions are:

Are you fickle?

Do you like to show off?

Do you like to read books about sex?

Do you think people are watching you on the streets?

PICKED SQUAD TO CHECK FLOW OF CANADIAN BEER

DRY CHIEF WILL SEND SPECIAL FORCE TO GUARD THE BORDER

CANADIAN BREWERIES NEAR THE BORDER ARE VERY ACTIVE

(From St. Paul Daily News)

A force of picked men is to be sent to the Minnesota-Canadian border to stop the flow of beer into the United States.

This announcement has been made by M. L. Harney, prohibition chief of the district.

The decision to send a special patrol to augment the force now guarding the border came as a result of a series of raids in Minnesota and North Dakota recently. A considerable quantity of Canadian beer was found by the raiders.

A large number of breweries have been opened in Canada close to the American border recently.

Almost the entire output of these places is sold to the bootleggers from Minnesota and North Dakota who run it across the border, Mr. Harney says.

The present border patrol is inadequate to cope with the large number of beer runners, and large quantities are being brought across every week, Mr. Harney said.

The personnel of the new border patrol will be very carefully selected, according to Mr. Harney, and is expected to more than double the efficiency of the dry force watching the Canadian line.

The new force will be sent to the border within two or three weeks, according to present plans.

The head-on collision occurred with terrific force, the Ford boring into the Chalmers. Occupants of both cars were thrown out and on the paving and into the ditch.

As the bus driver passed he saw the woman dead alonside of the highway, the car wreckage scattered about. Four were reported seriously hurt and three removed to St. Cloud hospitals and one taken to Royalton for immediate treatment.

STATE ALIENIST SAYS LOEB WAS SANE ON MAY 21

PROSECUTION STRIVES TO BREAK DOWN DEFENSE CASE IN CHICAGO TRIAL

ATTEMPT TO DISPROVE STATEMENTS "IN MITIGATION OF PUNISHMENT"

(By United Press)

Criminal Courtroom, Chicago, Aug. 13.—Chief Justice John R. Caverly this afternoon issued a writ of appearance in court of Miss Marion Doctor, whom the state wants as a witness in the Leopold-Loeb case....Miss Doctor is an immediate friend of Nathan Leopold, Jr.

Nathan discussed the Franks' crime with her several times before his arrest. State's Attorney Crowe has made several efforts to bring her into court but she evaded appearance and the writ issued by Justice Caverly was placed in the hands of an officer with orders to see that she appears.

Criminal Courtroom, Cheiago, Aug. 13.—"There was no evidence of mental disease in Richard Loeb on May 21," Dr. T. Patrick, state alienist, state positively in court today at the judicial hearing of Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb for the murder of Robert Franks.

Striving to break down the defense's case of "diseased functioning of the mind," the prosecution today took Dr. Patrick carefully along the line of the defense evidence in an effort to disprove every statement put forward "in mitigation of punishment."

John Sbarboro, assistant state's attorney, asked Dr. Patrick whether he had formed an opinion of Loeb, taking into consideration the statement of the defense that the defendant was immature, had three baby teeth, a light growth of hair on the body, was forced to shave only once or twice a week, was subject to fainting spells, tremors of the body and face, and whose "basic metabolism was minus 19."

"Yes, I have," the witness replied.

"What is that opinion?"

"I saw no evidence of mental disease," the witness answered, "unless one were to consider the commission of a crime was evidence of mental ease."

Sbarboro admitted other assumptions to the hypothetical question after this, asking Dr. Patrick whether he had an opinion regarding Loeb's mental condition in the light of the various assumptions.

Each time Dr. Patrick replied that he had an opinion; that his opinion was that Loeb did not have a mental disease on May 21, 1924, when Robert Franks was murdered; and that his reason was that he had found no evidence of the disorder.

Dr. Patrick, a little man with a scrubby mustache and twinkling eyes, dismissed with a wave of the hand and a disarming smile the cries of abnormality presented by the defense.

"It has been testified that the boys lied," Sbarboro said.

"Is there anything abnormal about that?"

"No, that is absolutely normal," Dr. Patrick said.

"It has been testified here that the boys had fantasies particularly after going to bed," Sbarboro asked. "Do you see anything abnormal about that?"

"That is highly normal," the doctor replied positively.

"Everyone has fantasies. I have myself. It is normal for a person to have fantasies about things in which he is interested. A lawyer has fantasies about law and about cases in which he is interested. These are just day dreams, castles in the air—castles in Spain, they call them—and the reason these fantasies are more frequent at night is because one can consider the subject then without interference."

"It is positively natural," Dr. Patrick continued, 'for a person to have day dreams just before going to sleep."

"Do you attach any importance to the fact that Loeb's fantasies ran along the lines of planning crimes?" Sbarbora asked .

"I think that is of very great importance. It shows that he had criminalistic tendencies."

With almost automatic precision Dr. Patrick rejected link after link of the defense fantastical medical case. He said he found nothing abnormal in Loeb's rejection of religion, his development of individualistic philosophy which holds that the individual has the right to do anything that gives him pleasure, his belief that as a superman he was superior to law. Dr. Patrick continued to tell that he found nothing to indicate that Loeb was suffering from mental disease on May 21.

Leopold's "inferiority complex," which the defense stated was due to his small stature, and failure to make any mark in athletics, is simply incapacity, Dr. Patrick said.

"I myself am in the same category," the doctor said. "Being small in stature, I cannot excel in athletic sports."

A heated debate between opposing attorneys broke out when Sbarboro asked Dr. Patrick whether the joint report of Dr. H. S. Hulbert and Carl M. Bowman, defense alienists, was in his opinion "consistent and true."

The court broke into the argument, but did not rule on the question, ordering Sbarboro to continue his examination along another line for the present.

HINES IS TO SUCCEED MAJOR GENERAL PERSHING

HINES IS AN OLD LINE FIGHTER, ALMOST TWIN BROTHER OF PERSHING

WILL CARRY ON ARMY WORK AS LAID DOWN BY "BLACK-JACK"

(By United Press)

Washington, Aug. 13. — Major-General John L. Hines, an old line fighter close enough to General Pershing in military police to be his twin brother will succeed to command of the army when Pershing retires on September 13.

General Hines whom President Coolidge approved as chief of staff when the war-time commander reaches the retirement age of 64, has been with "Blackjack" Pershing for years and it is probable he will carry on the work in the army that Pershing laid down.

Pershing went into Mexico in 1916 as head of a punitive expedition and again to France, first as commander of the first division, then brigade division, and finally an army corps.

Hines was head of the first brigade of the first division when the Yankees gave the Germans the shock of their lives at Cantigny. He was there again when the division delivered a smash at Soissons.

At Soissons he earned the D. S. C. Pershing took him to general headquarters at Chaumont, and with a few intervals he has been closely associated with him ever since.

When Major-General Harboard resigned as deputy chief of staff in December, 1922, Pershing had Hines appointed to the post. Since then they have worked together.

Hines, it is understood, will push Pershing's plans for a highly trained skeleton army and seek to develop the supplementary part of the plan—the slow building of a trained citizenry. He will boost citizens military training camps and reserve officers corps plans to train a large number of citizens in the idea of preparedness and in other similar ideas.

Davis opposed Donahey for governor in 1920, and was elected.

Donahey was re-nominated in 1922 and won the election from Carmi Thompson of Cleveland.

Minneapolis, Aug. 13. — Bandits hauled two truckloads of shoes away from the Double Wear Shoe store, 315 Lake st. e., Minneapolis, it was reported to police.

The shoes, 1,711 pairs, were stored in an upper story of the store building. They had been put there last spring after a heavy cloudburst damaged stocks in the basement. Many of the shoes taken were damaged.

The value of the shoes was placed at more than $7,000.

ICE PACK IS THAWING ON NORTH COAST

IF WEATHER CONTINUES GOOD, FLIGHT WILL SOON BE RESUMED

ICE GRIP ON GREENLAND HARBORS IS LOOSENING GRADUALLY

(By United Press)

Reykjavik, Iceland, Aug. 13. — Favorable weather conditions will find the United States army fliers at Labrador within ten days—possibly sooner.

"If the weather continues good we hope to reach Labrador four days after leaving Reykjavik," Lieut. Lowell Smith, commander of the world flight expedition, said. "That will mean a stop of one night at Angmagsalik (on the west coast of Greenland) and two nights at Ivigtut (on the west coast.)"

The airmen hope to leave Reykjavik this week.

Preparations for early resumption of the American world flight started today.

Word that ice on the Greenland coast was loosening its grip on the harbors to which the airmen will fly next was the signal for renewed activity at this little port.

The navy's chain of destroyers and cruisers which will stretch between here and Greenland when the flight is resumed was being organized.

The scout cruiser Richmond plans to take spare parts no longer needed at the base here and move on to the next stop.

Lieut. Lowell Smith, flight commander, and Rear Admiral Magruder conferred regarding the routing of the next leg.

Lieut. Erick Nelson's plane was still ashore and preparations were made to launch it.

WHEAT MARKET REVERSES BLAMED FOR HIS DOWNFALL

St. Paul, Aug. 13.—St. Paul and Minneapolis are being combed by agents of the United States department of justice who hope to find some trace of F. A. Ludwig, missing cashier of the First National bank of Minnesota Lake.

The bank closed Aug. 4 after discovery of shortages said to exceed $75,000.

"Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford" methods are believed by the federal agents to have been responsible for Ludwig's downfall.

As bank examiners continued their check of Ludwig's bank records department of justice agents were probing into his recent history outside the bank. They discovered that he had made heavy investments in Minnesota farm lands, especially in the vicinity of Mankato, in the last several years.

It was his aim, they believe, to acquire much land at low prices by "borrowing" from the bank funds, concealing the book discrepancies through falcification of the records.

Then, to restore the "borrowed" money, he borrowed more and speculated heavily in wheat options, hoping in this way to "clean up" sufficient to repay the bank before his transactions were discovered, and still own the farm property.

But he was on the wrong side of the wheat market, the federal agents believe, and lost all he borrowed.

A minute check of brokerage companies in the Twin Cities failed to reveal any transactions in the name of F. A. Ludwig. It is thought that either he operated under a bogus name or through an agent.

Warrants were issued today for his arrest, charging embezzlement of $50,000. This figure is not necessarily accurate, it was pointed out, and the defalcations may total far in excess of $100,000.

Search also was being made today in Chicago.

WRITTEN CONTRACT WAS ESSENTIAL

$100,000 BREACH OF CONTRACT QUASHED BY LOS ANGELES JUDGE

Los Angeles, Aug. 13.—The $100,000 breach of contract suit filed by Ann Luther against "Millionaire Jack" White came to an abrupt end today when Superior Judge Valentine upheld the contention of White's attorney that since Miss Luther did not possess a written contract the case should be quashed. The oral contract, the court held, came within the limits of the statute of fraud.

DAVIS WINS THE G. O. P. NOMINATION, OHIO GOVERNOR

WINS FIRST HONORS IN A FIELD OF SEVEN CANDIDATES

DAVIS WILL BE OPPOSED BY DONAHEY, DEMOCRAT, IN NOVEMBER

(By United Press)

Columbus, O., Aug. 13.—Former Governor Harry L. Davis won the republican nomination for governor of Ohio from a field of seven other candidates in the state primary Tuesday. He will run in the November election against Governor Vic Donahey, who was re-nominated on the democratic ticket by a large majority over James C. Beaty.

Davis forged ahead in first returns and was still leading early today with a plurality of aproximately 60,000 votes in 5,000 of the 8,300 precincts.

Davis opposed Donahey for governor in 1920, and was elected.

Donahey was re-nominated in 1922 and won the election from Carmi Thompson of Cleveland.

Bank Cashier Jailed; Reported $123,000 Short

Peoria, Ill., Aug. 13.—John M. Speer, Peoria, cashier of the Fond du Lac State bank of East Peoria, is being held in the county jail at Pekin today, while J. L. Northrup, state bank examiner, is making an audit of the bank books.

Funds totaling $123,000 are said to be missing.

The bank was closed yesterday by the state auditor. An East Peoria oil concern is said to have absorbed most of the money.

BANDITS HAUL OFF $7,000 SHOE STOCK

LAKE STREET, MINNEAPOLIS, IS PLUNDERED DURING THE NIGHT

Minneapolis, Aug. 13. — Bandits hauled two truckloads of shoes away from the Double Wear Shoe store, 315 Lake st. e., Minneapolis, it was reported to police.

The shoes, 1,711 pairs, were stored in an upper story of the store building. They had been put there last spring after a heavy cloudburst damaged stocks in the basement. Many of the shoes taken were damaged.

The value of the shoes was placed at more than $7,000.

While Ike Levine, 812 Fremont ave. n., his wife, mother and four children, slept, burglars ransacked the house last night and took $600 in cash, clothing and jewelry. The loss was not discovered until the family woke up this morning.

Burglars also broke into Gross Bros., dry cleaners, 86 10th st. s., Minneapolis, last night. Men's and women's clothing valued at $600 was taken.

ICE PACK IS THAWING ON NORTH COAST

IF WEATHER CONTINUES GOOD, FLIGHT WILL SOON BE RESUMED

ICE GRIP ON GREENLAND HARBORS IS LOOSENING GRADUALLY

(By United Press)

Reykjavik, Iceland, Aug. 13. — Favorable weather conditions will find the United States army fliers at Labrador within ten days—possibly sooner.

"If the weather continues good we hope to reach Labrador four days after leaving Reykjavik," Lieut. Lowell Smith, commander of the world flight expedition, said. "That will mean a stop of one night at Angmagsalik (on the west coast of Greenland) and two nights at Ivigtut (on the west coast.)"

The airmen hope to leave Reykjavik this week.

Preparations for early resumption of the American world flight started today.

Word that ice on the Greenland coast was loosening its grip on the harbors to which the airmen will fly next was the signal for renewed activity at this little port.

The navy's chain of destroyers and cruisers which will stretch between here and Greenland when the flight is resumed was being organized.

The scout cruiser Richmond plans to take spare parts no longer needed at the base here and move on to the next stop.

Lieut. Lowell Smith, flight commander, and Rear Admiral Magruder conferred regarding the routing of the next leg.

Lieut. Erick Nelson's plane was still ashore and preparations were made to launch it.

WHEAT MARKET REVERSES BLAMED FOR HIS DOWNFALL

St. Paul, Aug. 13.—St. Paul and Minneapolis are being combed by agents of the United States department of justice who hope to find some trace of F. A. Ludwig, missing cashier of the First National bank of Minnesota Lake.

The bank closed Aug. 4 after discovery of shortages said to exceed $75,000.

"Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford" methods are believed by the federal agents to have been responsible for Ludwig's downfall.

As bank examiners continued their check of Ludwig's bank records department of justice agents were probing into his recent history outside the bank. They discovered that he had made heavy investments in Minnesota farm lands, especially in the vicinity of Mankato, in the last several years.

It was his aim, they believe, to acquire much land at low prices by "borrowing" from the bank funds, concealing the book discrepancies through falcification of the records.

Then, to restore the "borrowed" money, he borrowed more and speculated heavily in wheat options, hoping in this way to "clean up" sufficient to repay the bank before his transactions were discovered, and still own the farm property.

But he was on the wrong side of the wheat market, the federal agents believe, and lost all he borrowed.

A minute check of brokerage companies in the Twin Cities failed to reveal any transactions in the name of F. A. Ludwig. It is thought that either he operated under a bogus name or through an agent.

Warrants were issued today for his arrest, charging embezzlement of $50,000. This figure is not necessarily accurate, it was pointed out, and the defalcations may total far in excess of $100,000.

Search also was being made today in Chicago.

St. Paul, Aug. 13.—Loans aggregating $4,257,000 have been made by the $10,000,000 agricultural credit corporation in the last six months.

This figure was given out by A. T. Kemp, president of the corporation, in a statement summarizing the activities of the corporation, instigated by President Coolidge.

More than 1,400 dairy cattle have been placed on farms through loans made to banks, totalling 205, with aggregate deposits of $4,912,000. FLEET OF BARGES ON MISSISSIPPI

EXPECTED TO BE IN OPERATION EARLY NEXT SPRING

(By United Press)

St. Paul, Aug. 13.—A full fleet of barges will be in operations on the Mississippi river next spring.

This was the prophesy of Col. L. H. Brittin, industrial director of the St. Paul Association, before he left for Chicago to confer with W. G. Mayo, chief engineer of the Ford Motor company today, concerning river navigation.

With the completion of docks at the new Ford plant here it now remains to be determined how many barges will be required to handle the business at the opening of navigation in the spring, Col. Brittin said.

JAPANESE BUYS LIVESTOCK FOR MARKET AT HOME

St. Paul, Aug. 13.—Thoroughbred cattle and poultry raised in and near St. Paul soon will be among the choice dishes served on the table of Japanese in their native land.

Keitaro Mukaj, livestock buyer from Osaka, is in the city buying a supply for shipment abroad. He is stopping at the Ryan hotel and plans to be in the city all week.

The eating of meat in Japan is a consequence of the spread of Christianity in that country. Forty years ago the Japanese ate little meat because of the scarcity of livestock. Cattle were beasts of burden, not a table delicacy.

Mr. Mukai says occidental foodstuffs now are growing in demand.

He represents the Shikata Kenkyusho, a large experimental farm in the suburb of Osaka, and while in this country will purchase thoroughbred cattle and poultry and dairy, farm and ice-making machinery.

While in St. Paul Mr. Mukat also is studying modern dairy methods and sanitatary milk production, which are almost unknown in Japan.

When he leaves St. Paul he will go to New York and then to Ontario after which he will prepare to ship purchased stock and poultry to Japan.

THAT PHILOSOPHY BUSINESS

ALIENISTS at the Leopold-Loeb trial have been active in setting out the so-called philosophy of the two boys, and acting for the defense, the philosophy, we suppose is to be evidence of a warped mind. The Leopold-Loeb philosophy is buried in terms of Nietsche, Schopenhauer and other advanced thinkers, and is seriously considered.

But have you stopped to consider that everybody has a philosophy of his own? Robin Hood and his merry band of robbers had one in the merry glades of England and that was to rob the oppressors and the rich and distribute their gains to the poor. This, in a way, might be termed operating on swollen fortunes.

The footpad who taps you over your head as you pass a bleak alley has a philosophy too, but it is not aired in court when he is brought to the bar of justice. His philosophy, no doubt, is that he was down and out, needed money and had to get it quick. He had no time or inclination to seek a decent job, he just had to have money and as you appeared affluent and well able to spare the change, he gave you the tap on the cranium in exchange for the coin he separated from your wallet.

The bank wreckers and vault blowers who attacked the little town of 400 at Villard had a philosophy too. The six, it is said, were banded together for mutual profit, two doing the blasting and four guarding against surprise. Their philosophy, no doubt, was that easy money could be secured by their yegg work, the bank had the money and two hours work would attain the goal. And as to police protection, how much of it is there in a town of 400 and what co-operation exists between a town and the county seat or the state capitol when wires are cut, the whole town is intimidated into staying in bed and not sticking heads out of the windows.

Every lawbreaker has a philosophy. Very few, however, like Leopold and Loeb, make a brag of writing one and inflicting their opinions on credulous people and starting a sympathetic crime wave. The ordinary run of high-jackers, porch climbers, stick-up men, robbers and killers, in spite of all their philosophies, somehow haven't the opportunity to inflict their philosophy on the courts when they are brought to justice. In fact, nobody cares about their philosophy.

We hope the Leopold-Loeb trial will soon run to a conclusion and that its daily excursions into philosophic realms as plotted and blue-printed by the defense will soon have run its course.

BRAINERD AS THE ELKS CONVENTION CITY

BRAINERD Elks lodge is making a strong bid for the Elks state convention in 1925. Headed by Dr. A. K. Cohen, Exalted Ruler, the lodge has started an advertising campaign bringing Brainerd, as the gateway to the 10,000 lakes, to the favorable notice of the convention in Duluth, the visitors there and the Canadian nation when the latter is visited on the lake trip next week.

Win or lose, the Elks should be given credit for gaining valuable publicity for Brainerd and this lake region. Some 50 Brainerd Elks and families will make the boat trip and will keep fellow passengers informed and decorated in the interests of the Brainerd Lake Region. Every Canadian encountered will be tagged.

The design was originated by the Brainerd Rotary club, showing a map of Minnesota outlined with Brainerd in the center and bearing the legend, "Brainerd, Gateway to 10,000 Lakes." To this has been added in red ink, "Elks, 1925."

The Elks lodge has extended an invitation to meet here in 1925, and has been joined by the Chamber of Commerce which took action in February of this year; the Rotarians which joined in the invitation last Tuesday. Others to join will be the Lions, Crow Wing Game Protective League, mayor of city, park board, etc.

W. H. Gemmell, president of the Minnesota & International railway, which has its headquarters in Brainerd, stated: "I am of the opinion and many others agree with me, that Brainerd is especially well fitted to take care of such conventions and I hope you will extend the invitation as planned and hope that the authorities in charge of the matter will decide to come to Brainerd. The Minnesota & International and myself are always interested in anything that helps bring Brainerd to the attention of outsiders and we will be glad to make the convention a success if it should be held here."

R. R. Wise, president of the 10,000 Lakes Association of Minnesota, has also promised to join in an invitation.

A GOOD WORD FOR THE CROW

THE DISPATCH likes to hear both sides of a question and when the furore started against the crow and numerous crow bills appeared as trophies of the chase, and every one seemed to have a black word for the same colored bird, it began to look as though the bird didn't fit in the universal order of things, and seemed rather superfluous in this utilitarian age.

Just the other day we unearthed this clipping and its tells quite a story for the crow side of the contest. It states that a single crow is known to have eaten 85 May beetles, 75 wireworms, or 123 grasshoppers within an hour.

The grasshopper pest is no idle dream, for Morrison county, according to Ed LaFond, has quite a few in sections. One farmer got a flock of turkeys to eat up the grasshoppers. With a crow's capacity for extermining grasshoppers, a flock of the birds would soon reduce a swarm of the hoppers.

SEE MINNESOTA FIRST

THE recent Dispatch editorial on the visit of Editors LaFond and Vasaly in our Brainerd Lake Region has attracted a deal of attention. "Twenty-five years ago," said E. L. Guin, who conducts a store in Northeast Brainerd, "I lived in Little Falls and many a foot race did Pete Vasaly and I run. Pete was a great athlete in his younger days and still can run a hundred yards in good time."

Congressman Harold Knutson, a former editor, having been in newspaper work in Foley and St. Cloud, saw the editorial and noticed Pete Vasaly had not visited the Brainerd Lake Region. He clipped it from the paper and sent it to Vasaly with the article lead-penciled, "See Minnesota First."

SPONSOR INDIAN WELFARE WORK IN MINNESOTA

MRS. DANIEL COONAN MAKES AN INTERESTING REPORT

PUBLIC HEALTH NURSES WELL RECEIVED BY INDIAN WOMEN

There are in Minnesota aproximately 13,000 Chippewa Indians. A large number of these Indians have already received their allotment of land from the government and are now full citizens of the state. The remainder are rapidly coming out from under direct federal control and will in a short time attain full citizenship. This will bring before the people of Minnesota a most important welfare problem. The Minnesota Federation of Women's clubs has not been asleep to its responsibility in this respect and Mrs. Daniel Coonan, chairman of the division of social and industrial conditions, has been most thoroughly invistigating the Indian problem. She is furnishing the papers of the state with an interesting report upon the work that has been done among the Indians of Minnesota by the public health associations and welfare organizations.

Minnesota has been chosen as a demonstration state for public nursing among the Indians and the results of a project which has financed two public health nurses since October, 1923, have been most gratifying to those directing the experiment. In September, 1923, following a visit through the Indian territory in this state, Dr. S. J. Crumbine, Director of Public Health Relations of the American Child Health association, proposed that the association deposit with the State Board of Health of Minnesota a sum of money sufficient when matched by a Sheppard-Tower funds to enable the Division of Child Hygiene to provide two nurses for public health work among the Indians. It was decided if the work in Minnesota proved to be successful that the same methods would be adopted in other states with Indian populations.

Miss Theodora Davis and Miss Elizabeth Sherer were two Indian graduate nurses of Chippewa extraction chosen for this work. They can speak and understand the Chippewa language. Each nurse is supplied with a Ford coupe and all material necessary for bedside care and home demonstration work.

Miss Davis has her headquarters at White Earth and her territory includes that part of Mahnomen, Becker and Clearwater counties which was formerly included in the White Earth reservation. There are approximately 4,000 Indians in this territory. Miss Elizabeth Sherer, the other nurse, has her headquarters at Cass lake. Her territory includes the Cass Lake and Leech Lake Indians. Miss Sherer also spends some time with the Indians at Lake Mille Lacs.

The first approach which these nurses made to the Indian mothers was by house to house visits, doing bedside nursing when necessary and giving home demonstrations to the mothers. The eagerness with which the Indian mothers not only accepted the advice of the nurses but actually requested their aid was beyond the expectations of all who knew Indian people.

Monthly baby weighing days are held by each of the nurses in different centers in their territories. On these weighing days the Indian mothers bring their babies and have them weighed and examined by the government physician.

During the winter classes for school girls were held by Miss Davis in the public school at White Earth and at St. Benedict's Mission in which they were given instruction which would be valuable when they become mothers. Miss Sherer, who spends part of her time in the Mille Lacs lake country, has been giving the same instruction to the girls there and at Cass Lake. Classes for Indian women were started by both Miss Davis and Miss Sherer. Women's clubs, Mothers' clubs and community clubs will also be organized by them.

The work of holding clinics among tubercular patients will soon begin as the tubercular hospital at Onigum on Leech lake is nearing completion and will be ready for occupancy about the middle of next month. Mrs. Blanche LaDu has been largely instrumental in securing the appropriation of $50,000 to remodel a government building for this purpose. It will be equipped with 100 beds at a cost of $15,000. The remainder of the appropriation will be used for maintenance. Dr. S. J. Crumbine, who is also influential in helping with the establishment of the hospital at Onigum, expects to spend some time in Minnesota this fall and it is hoped the building will be dedicated while he is here.

On June 17 Mrs. Daniel Coonan accompanied by Dr. Ruth E. Boynton, director of the Division of Child Hygiene, passed through Princeton on her return trip through the White Earth reservation. She found that the nurses employed among the Indians had done their work most effectively and created a friendly community spirit that has laid a foundation for an effective program during the coming year. It is to be hoped that the Minnesota Federation of Women's clubs will assist in carrying on this work. Mrs. Coonan stated that everywhere they had received most friendly greetings from the Indians who were exceedingly grateful to the Federation for the help given last winter in furnishing them with the much needed supplies. The Federation has been instrumental in furnishing proper and sufficient foods for the nurses to demonstrate to the mothers what food the babies should have and how to prepare it. Some of this food is still being used and the response from the mothers is most gratifying.

The problem that faces the Federation now is means of assisting in carrying on this education welfare work among the Indians. Last year the American Child Health association gave $3,000 which matched with the Sheppard-Tower funds made a total of $6,000. This amount was sufficient to cover the expenses of the two nurses for one year. This year the Child Health association can give only $850 owing to a lack of funds in its organization. When matched by a similar amount from the Sheppard-Tower fund it will make only a total of $1,700.

At a meeting of the State Advisory board on maternal and infant hygiene, Dr. Ruth E. Boynton and Miss Ruth Houlton, superintendent of nurses, described the work of these two nurses among the Indians and asked that they receive aid from the Federated clubs in carrying on the project. After considerable discussion a motion was made and passed unanimously that the Advisory board recommended to the State Board of Health that the work among the Indians be continued and to extend it if possible to secure funds for that purpose.

The Indian welfare committee, of which Mrs. Daniel Coonan is chairman, is asking the enthusiastic support of the clubs throughout the state in helping to put over this big project. The clubwomen are urged to attend the open Forum meeting which will be held at 9 o'clock on September 9, at the annual meeting of the Federation at Excelsior. At that time suggestions will be made as to means of raising the money necessary for the welfare work among the Indians. It is hoped there will be suggestions from every district in the state so that by noon on that date all plans will be completed.

The other states are watching the development of this work among the Indians in Minnesota. It is felt that the club women can not afford to neglect their opportunity to assist in such a worthy project. It is a national experiment, the success or failure of which, will exercise far-reaching effects.

In a letter Mrs. Coonan recently received from Dr. A. J. Chesley he stated: "At the conference of state and prevential health authorities of North America held at Lansing, I was asked to discuss the Indian situation. I did this briefly limiting my observation entirely to Minnesota conditions." He continued, "I am sure that the time has arrived when the Indian situation will receive due attention and the Federated clubs will be instrumental in solving the problem, and I want again to express my appreciation of their co-operation, and personal interest in the work of the State Board of Health."

My kidneys bothered me at night and mornings I was stiff and sore across the small of my back. I had a steady, dull ache across my kidneys day and night. THAT PHILOSOPHY BUSINESS

ALIENISTS at the Leopold-Loeb trial have been active in setting out the so-called philosophy of the two boys, and acting for the defense, the philosophy, we suppose is to be evidence of a warped mind. The Leopold-Loeb philosophy is buried in terms of Nietsche, Schopenhauer and other advanced thinkers, and is seriously considered.

But have you stopped to consider that everybody has a philosophy of his own? Robin Hood and his merry band of robbers had one in the merry glades of England and that was to rob the oppressors and the rich and distribute their gains to the poor. This, in a way, might be termed operating on swollen fortunes.

The footpad who taps you over your head as you pass a bleak alley has a philosophy too, but it is not aired in court when he is brought to the bar of justice. His philosophy, no doubt, is that he was down and out, needed money and had to get it quick. He had no time or inclination to seek a decent job, he just had to have money and as you appeared affluent and well able to spare the change, he gave you the tap on the cranium in exchange for the coin he separated from your wallet.

The bank wreckers and vault blowers who attacked the little town of 400 at Villard had a philosophy too. The six, it is said, were banded together for mutual profit, two doing the blasting and four guarding against surprise. Their philosophy, no doubt, was that easy money could be secured by their yegg work, the bank had the money and two hours work would attain the goal. And as to police protection, how much of it is there in a town of 400 and what co-operation exists between a town and the county seat or the state capitol when wires are cut, the whole town is intimidated into staying in bed and not sticking heads out of the windows.

Every lawbreaker has a philosophy. Very few, however, like Leopold and Loeb, make a brag of writing one and inflicting their opinions on credulous people and starting a sympathetic crime wave. The ordinary run of high-jackers, porch climbers, stick-up men, robbers and killers, in spite of all their philosophies, somehow haven't the opportunity to inflict their philosophy on the courts when they are brought to justice. In fact, nobody cares about their philosophy.

We hope the Leopold-Loeb trial will soon run to a conclusion and that its daily excursions into philosophic realms as plotted and blue-printed by the defense will soon have run its course.

BRAINERD AS THE ELKS CONVENTION CITY

BRAINERD Elks lodge is making a strong bid for the Elks state convention in 1925. Headed by Dr. A. K. Cohen, Exalted Ruler, the lodge has started an advertising campaign bringing Brainerd, as the gateway to the 10,000 lakes, to the favorable notice of the convention in Duluth, the visitors there and the Canadian nation when the latter is visited on the lake trip next week.

Win or lose, the Elks should be given credit for gaining valuable publicity for Brainerd and this lake region. Some 50 Brainerd Elks and families will make the boat trip and will keep fellow passengers informed and decorated in the interests of the Brainerd Lake Region. Every Canadian encountered will be tagged.

The design was originated by the Brainerd Rotary club, showing a map of Minnesota outlined with Brainerd in the center and bearing the legend, "Brainerd, Gateway to 10,000 Lakes." To this has been added in red ink, "Elks, 1925."

The Elks lodge has extended an invitation to meet here in 1925, and has been joined by the Chamber of Commerce which took action in February of this year; the Rotarians which joined in the invitation last Tuesday. Others to join will be the Lions, Crow Wing Game Protective League, mayor of city, park board, etc.

W. H. Gemmell, president of the Minnesota & International railway, which has its headquarters in Brainerd, stated: "I am of the opinion and many others agree with me, that Brainerd is especially well fitted to take care of such conventions and I hope you will extend the invitation as planned and hope that the authorities in charge of the matter will decide to come to Brainerd. The Minnesota & International and myself are always interested in anything that helps bring Brainerd to the attention of outsiders and we will be glad to make the convention a success if it should be held here."

R. R. Wise, president of the 10,000 Lakes Association of Minnesota, has also promised to join in an invitation.

A GOOD WORD FOR THE CROW

THE DISPATCH likes to hear both sides of a question and when the furore started against the crow and numerous crow bills appeared as trophies of the chase, and every one seemed to have a black word for the same colored bird, it began to look as though the bird didn't fit in the universal order of things, and seemed rather superfluous in this utilitarian age.

Just the other day we unearthed this clipping and its tells quite a story for the crow side of the contest. It states that a single crow is known to have eaten 85 May beetles, 75 wireworms, or 123 grasshoppers within an hour.

The grasshopper pest is no idle dream, for Morrison county, according to Ed LaFond, has quite a few in sections. One farmer got a flock of turkeys to eat up the grasshoppers. With a crow's capacity for extermining grasshoppers, a flock of the birds would soon reduce a swarm of the hoppers.

SEE MINNESOTA FIRST

THE recent Dispatch editorial on the visit of Editors LaFond and Vasaly in our Brainerd Lake Region has attracted a deal of attention. "Twenty-five years ago," said E. L. Guin, who conducts a store in Northeast Brainerd, "I lived in Little Falls and many a foot race did Pete Vasaly and I run. Pete was a great athlete in his younger days and still can run a hundred yards in good time."

Congressman Harold Knutson, a former editor, having been in newspaper work in Foley and St. Cloud, saw the editorial and noticed Pete Vasaly had not visited the Brainerd Lake Region. He clipped it from the paper and sent it to Vasaly with the article lead-penciled, "See Minnesota First."

SPONSOR INDIAN WELFARE WORK IN MINNESOTA

500 AT ANNUAL WATER CARNIVAL OF CAMP LINCOLN

TWIN CITY AND SUMMER RESORT PEOPLE THRONG POPULAR BOYS' CAMP

FIELD SPORTS, TRACK EVENTS, BOXING MATCHES, BOAT RACES, SWIMMING RACES, ETC.

Hubert, Minn., Aug. 13. — Five hundred persons attended the annual water carnival day at Camp Lincoln for boys on Hubert Lake last Saturday. The crowd was made up largely of visitors from the Twin Cities and summer resort people from the vicinity of the camp. A few parents of boys in camp traveled long distances to be present. Mrs. F. W. Long of Jacksonville, Florida, was the visitor from farthest away.

Field sports and baseball games in the junior and senior camps made up the morning program. A baseball game between the junior and senior camps was the first event. The contest was won by the seniors. Track events including dashes, relay races, high and broad jumping were held in the athletic field.

Ten two-round boxing matches were the feature of the afternoon program. The contestants ranged in age from seven to twelve years. Norman Olson, head counsellor of the junior camp, was referee of the matches. Seconds with sponges, towels and all the rest of the accessories lent a professional air to the ceremonies and the youngsters went at the game with a vengeance. Proud fathers rubbed their hands with satisfaction as their youthful sons exchanged blows without flinching.

Boat and canoe races were the first events of the water sport exhibition. They were followed by swimming races and diving exhibitions. Both diving towers were in use during the water exhibition.

The final event of the afternoon was a baseball game between the counsellors and the "dads." Under the leadership of Mr. Charles Lang and Mr. Rustle Cook, both of Minneapolis, the "dads" scored a one-run victory over the counsellors. Mr. J. S. Dalrymple, the umpire, also one of the fathers, contributed considerably to the success of his team.

"The Life of Lincoln," a pageant in four episodes depicting the life of Abraham Lincoln, was staged in the evening. Boys in the junior and senior camps took all the parts. The juveniles portrayed their respective characters with unusual effect. Mr. George Lamb of St. Paul directed the production.

FAVORITES COME THROUGH WITH OPENING WINS

Forest Hills, N. Y., Aug. 13.—Bad weather threatened to force a postponement of the second round of the women's national tennis championship scheduled here.

The courts were thoroughly soaked by a heavy early morning downpour, but the rain was not enough to make a postponement necessary. Groundkeepers at the West Side Tennis club said the wetting of the courts would be beneficial, as the turf has been badly burned during the recent heat wave.

Of the 59 players who started in the first round yesterday, 30 survived. All of the favorites came through with rather easy victories. None of the other ranking players, who were seeded in the draw, had an opportunity to class to Mrs. L. C. Beaupré, former champion of Quebec, who opposed Miss Helen Wills, the national and Olympic champion.

The 18-year-old California girl played some of the best tennis of her career and she consumed only 23 minutes in winning a love match. The best the Canadian woman could do was to carry two games to short deuce in the second set.

Mrs. Molla Mallory, Miss Eleanor Goss, Miss Mary K. Browne, Miss Edith Sigourney, Miss Martha Bayard and Miss Mayme MacDonald came through easily.

Feature matches on the program today were to bring Miss Wills against Mrs. Helene Pollok Falk; Miss Goss against Mrs. B. E. Cole; Miss Brown against Miss Penelope Anderson, and Mrs. Jessup against Miss Mary Case. Mrs. Mallory was not scheduled to play today.

GIBBONS AND KANE ON HUNT FOR WILSON

London, Aug. 13.—Legal proceedings against Mayor Arnold Wilson to recover $35,000 have been started by Eddie Kane, manager of Tom Gibbons, who met Jack Bloomfield in a contest promoted by Wilson last Saturday.

Gibbons was promised $50,000 as his purse, and he was able to get only $15,000 before he entered the ring. He denied that he had threatened not to enter the ring before he was paid a part of the purse.

Bloomfield was paid only $15,000 of a promised $30,000, and several of the preliminary boxers didn't get a cent.

The interested parties could not find Wilson today.

500 AT ANNUAL WATER CARNIVAL OF CAMP LINCOLN

TWIN CITY AND SUMMER RESORT PEOPLE THRONG POPULAR BOYS' CAMP

FIELD SPORTS, TRACK EVENTS, BOXING MATCHES, BOAT RACES, SWIMMING RACES, ETC.

Hubert, Minn., Aug. 13. — Five hundred persons attended the annual water carnival day at Camp Lincoln for boys on Hubert Lake last Saturday. The crowd was made up largely of visitors from the Twin Cities and summer resort people from the vicinity of the camp. A few parents of boys in camp traveled long distances to be present. Mrs. F. W. Long of Jacksonville, Florida, was the visitor from farthest away.

Field sports and baseball games in the junior and senior camps made up the morning program. A baseball game between the junior and senior camps was the first event. The contest was won by the seniors. Track events including dashes, relay races, high and broad jumping were held in the athletic field.

Ten two-round boxing matches were the feature of the afternoon program. The contestants ranged in age from seven to twelve years. Norman Olson, head counsellor of the junior camp, was referee of the matches. Seconds with sponges, towels and all the rest of the accessories lent a professional air to the ceremonies and the youngsters went at the game with a vengeance. Proud fathers rubbed their hands with satisfaction as their youthful sons exchanged blows without flinching.

Boat and canoe races were the first events of the water sport exhibition. They were followed by swimming races and diving exhibitions. Both diving towers were in use during the water exhibition.

The final event of the afternoon was a baseball game between the counsellors and the "dads." Under the leadership of Mr. Charles Lang and Mr. Rustle Cook, both of Minneapolis, the "dads" scored a one-run victory over the counsellors. Mr. J. S. Dalrymple, the umpire, also one of the fathers, contributed considerably to the success of his team.

"The Life of Lincoln," a pageant in four episodes depicting the life of Abraham Lincoln, was staged in the evening. Boys in the junior and senior camps took all the parts. The juveniles portrayed their respective characters with unusual effect. Mr. George Lamb of St. Paul directed the production.

FAVORITES COME THROUGH WITH OPENING WINS

Forest Hills, N. Y., Aug. 13.—Bad weather threatened to force a postponement of the second round of the women's national tennis championship scheduled here.

The courts were thoroughly soaked by a heavy early morning downpour, but the rain was not enough to make a postponement necessary. Groundkeepers at the West Side Tennis club said the wetting of the courts would be beneficial, as the turf has been badly burned during the recent heat wave.

Of the 59 players who started in the first round yesterday, 30 survived. All of the favorites came through with rather easy victories. None of the other ranking players, who were seeded in the draw, had an opportunity to class to Mrs. L. C. Beaupré, former champion of Quebec, who opposed Miss Helen Wills, the national and Olympic champion.

The 18-year-old California girl played some of the best tennis of her career and she consumed only 23 minutes in winning a love match. The best the Canadian woman could do was to carry two games to short deuce in the second set.

Mrs. Molla Mallory, Miss Eleanor Goss, Miss Mary K. Browne, Miss Edith Sigourney, Miss Martha Bayard and Miss Mayme MacDonald came through easily.

Feature matches on the program today were to bring Miss Wills against Mrs. Helene Pollok Falk; Miss Goss against Mrs. B. E. Cole; Miss Brown against Miss Penelope Anderson, and Mrs. Jessup against Miss Mary Case. Mrs. Mallory was not scheduled to play today.

BRAINERD WHOLESALE GROCERY CO. SALE

Brainerd Institution is Purchased by Nash Finch Shareholders Co. of Minneapolis

TAKE MANAGEMENT SEPT. 1

Brainerd Grocery Co. Was Organized Oct. 4, 1904, Under Direction of W. H. Cleary

Formal announcement was made today by W. H. Cleary, president and manager of the Brainerd Wholesale Grocery Co., that this business has been sold to the Nash Finch Shareholders Company, of Minneapolis, and will take over the active management of the concern on September 1st, under the name of the Nash Finch Co.

Rumors that such a transaction was pending have been prevalent for several days, but it was only on Tuesday that the deal was finally consummated, representatives of the Nash Finch Shareholders Company being in the city at that time to take care of details in connection with the transfer.

They included W. K. Nash, Fred Nash, W. E. Deit and C. E. Carlyle.

The Brainerd Grocery Company was organized October 4th, 1904, and for the past twenty years has been serving this territory well, under the direction of W. H. Cleary. It is conceded to be one of the most successful business firms in the Northwest, enjoying a large trade in both city and country districts covering Cass, Morrison, Aitkin and Crow Wing counties, with its salesmen.

The Nash Finch Shareholders Co., control one hundred and ten wholesale grocery and fruit companies, covering Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Montana and other Western states. They are said to be the largest shippers and handlers of California fruits in these states, owning their own packing plants in California, and packing oranges, peaches pears and in Washington packing their own box apples.

This company ships its products to its many houses in carload lots. They handle all nationally advertised lines of groceries and are large importers of coffees and teas, maintaining their own coffee roasting plant in Minneapolis which supplies their wholesale groceries and places them in a position to give their customers in this territory a wonderful service in quality merchandise.

While the Nash Finch Company is new in the Brainerd district, it is not a stranger in this territory. It purchased the Northern Grocery Co., at Bemidji four years ago, and have branches at Crookston, Grand Forks, and Fargo, N. D.

W. H. Cleary, sold his interest in the Brainerd Grocery Co., in Tuesday's transaction, but W. Ray Cleary and J. E. Cleary will retain their interests and remain with the new firm Walter Cleary who was also associated with his father, leaves shortly for the East, where he will resume his business education.

Mr. Cleary, Sr., states that he has made no definite plans for the future, but does intend to remain in Brainerd. He is considered one of the city's efficient and progressive business men and his many friends will regret to learn that he is retiring as active head of the local grocery with which he has been so closely connected for many years, and which by his untiring efforts he has brought up to its present successful position.

The management of the Nash Finch Company will no doubt have an announcement to make of their plans for the Brainerd house when they take over its active management the first of next month.

La Rocque Plays Role of Coward in Latest Production

In "Code of the Sea," a Victor Fleming production, featuring Rod La Rocque and Jacqueline Logan, La Rocque has the role of the son of a sea captain, whose supposed cowardice caused the deaths of 200 men, women and children in the billowy waves of the Pacific, because he had not the courage to ride out a terrific storm in his lightship.

All of the heartbreak of waiting for men who go out to sea and who Logan is featured with Rod La Rocque. La Rocque's great grandfather was a French mariner, who perished when his ship foundered and sunk in a gale off the coast of Spain. His widow lived only nine months afterward, dying of grief. And the story of this love is one of the most sacred traditions of the La Rocque family.

"When I was a child," relates the actor, "my grandmother used to tell me of the exploits of my great grandfather and his wife. Up to that time the La Rocque family had much of its interests tied up in the sea in shipping ventures. But the tragedy which was really a double affair caused all of my relatives to withdraw from any associations identified with water."

"Code of the Sea," with George Fawcett and others in the supporting cast, will be shown at the New Park on Thursday and Friday.

Is "To the Ladies" a James Cruze Picture

Under the direction of James Cruze who produced "The Covered Wagon," it is predicted that the screen version of "To the Ladies," showing at the Lyceum Theatre tonight and Thursday, will surpass in popularity the stage presentation of the three-act domestic comedy which New York critics acclaimed one of the best human interest stories theatre-goers had seen in many seasons.

The photoplay is built on a theme rather than a plot. This emphasizes to what extent a clever wife can prove an important factor in her husband's success.

'DEAD MAN' MUST ANSWER CHARGE OF SELLING LIQUOR

Minneapolis, Aug. 13.—Although he is legally dead, Bert Carlson will have to answer to charges of sale and possession of liquor in Minneapolis federal court.

Two years ago a death certificate was filed for Carlson and a liquor case against "Bert Carlson" was dismissed in federal court.

But investigation of the records revealed that the certificate was filed for John Zimlin, a bartender who used Carlson's name. Zimlin was arrested on a warrant issued for Carlson and two months before his trial he died.

Association of Central Minnesota to Meet in Convention in Brainerd on August 30

C. L. MOTL IS PRESIDENT

County Highway Engineer Walter M. Murphy and Louis Knudsen Are Chairmen of Committees

The engineers and surveyors of central Minnesota will hold their annual get-together in Brainerd on Saturday, August 30th. It is expected that twenty-five or thirty members will be present.

Those attending this Brainerd meeting constitute the central division of the Minnesota Surveyors and Engineers Society. There are nine such divisions in the state. C. L. Motl, former county highway engineer of Crow Wing County, and now associated with the state highway department, is president of the society. County Highway Engineer Walter M. Murphy, of Brainerd is chairman of the Engineer's division of the society and County Surveyor Louis Knudsen is chairman of the Surveyor's section.

Mr. Murphy and Mr. Knudsen compose the committe on arrangements for the Brainerd meeting, and are making elaborate plans for the entertainment of the visitors. The program of the day will include a short business session, a tour of the city with a sight-seeing trip through the Northern Pacific shops, and a banquet at one of Crow Wing county's famous lake resorts, to be chosen later.

It is expected that the majority of those attending will want to stay over Sunday and enjoy the fishing possibilities that lakes in the section afford.

Mr. Motl will be in attendance at this get-together, and it is hoped that other distinguished members of the society will be present also.

PYROTOL, NEW STRONG EXPLOSIVE

Government Bringing Same to Attention of Farmers For Land Clearing

SUCCEEDS PICRIC ACID, ETC.

New Explosive Composed Largely of Ground Smokeless Powder and Sodium Nitrate

County Agent E. G. Roth is now taking orders for a new government explosive, called pyrotol, to be used by farmers in their land clearing program this fall.

This is the third explosive that has been put out by the government since the World war, picric acid and sodatol being the other two. All are made from war munitions, and have been of great help to farmers in this territory.

Pyrotol is said to be a high explosive, composed largely of ground smokeless powder and sodium nitrate. It is prepared for use in double-dipped paraffined cartridges weighing six ounces.

These cartridges are packed in wooden boxes, each containing fifty pounds of pyrotol. It is handled the same as dynamite, says Mr. Roth, does not cause a headache, discolor the hands or leave any other ill effects as did former explosives. While it should be stored in a dry place, it can be shot with good results at all ordinary temperatures. It is exploded with No. 6 caps, either by electricity or with fuses.

Pyrotol is said to be much cheaper than any other explosive that has been turned out by the government for land clearing purposes. A stick of pyrotol is as strong as a forty per cent stick of dynamite, and in addition one hundred caps are furnished free with each two hundred pounds of explosive ordered through the county agent.

Mr. Roth is anxious to have the farmers place their orders for the pyrotol at once, as a carload of this explosive must be ordered before September 1st in order to be assured of delivery and to receive the caps free. Farmers who have a land clearing program for this fall or coming season will do well to lay in a good supply of pyrotol now.

Congressman Harold Knutson Says It's Opening Wedge to Socialism and Communism

GIVES SHORT TALK AT ROTARY

Y. M. C. A. Problems of Brainerd Are Most Frankly Discussed

An unexpected, but nevertheless most welcome visitor at the Rotary club Tuesday was Congressman Harold Knutson of St. Cloud, and when pressed by President W. H. Gemmell to talk, he launched into a discussion of the meeting of trainees of the Veterans Bureau on farms near Brainerd.

The men gave as their supreme difficulty the fact that requisitions for supplies took on an average of 60 days for being filled out. Oftentimes minor repairs for their tractors delayed farm work in consequence, and the tractors were in the garage months at a time. Congressman Knutson said there was too much red tape in many governmental operations and that there was too much centralization of government in Washington. The American people should fight against any extension of such centralizing power in the nation's capitol.

He scored government ownership of the railways, public utilities and mines as most fallacious doctrine. To put any such activity in the hands of the government and have it operate the same would result in the formation of a vast political machine which in turn would coerce congress.

The government spent into the billions in operation of railways and never brought them to the efficiency which private ownership so quickly did after the war. The government of Great Britain has had several experiences in government ownership. For instance, some $10,000,000 worth of war material was sold by the nation and the machinery employed to get it into the hands of the people cost the state the neat penny amounting to $225,000,000. Such government ownership is not only sinful but wasteful, and but an opening wedge for socialism and communism, said the congressman.

Secretary Dillan of the Y. M. C. A. recounted the work of this organization nationally and locally and explained the needs of the association. George E. Lowe, president of the association, told how the workers in the association, were putting in 16 hours a day.

Other speakers were Judge Walter F. Wieland, John F. Woodhead and W. C. Cobb. Mr. Woodhead advocated combining Boy Scout and "Y" activities. The Scouts had trouble in securing meeting places, and joining with the "Y" would enable them to meet at the association rems.

A visiting Rotarian, a banker from Wichita, Kansas, joined in the discussion and told of his experiences in Y. M. C. A. work. More needful than buildings, said he, was personality of the workers.

Rev. E. A. Cooke told of a group of churches becoming interested in the Northwestern hospital and the means adopted to make the institution a flourishing one.

The matter of inviting the Elks state convention to Brainerd was referred to the directors, this being the usual course. Later President Gemmell issued a statement in which the Rotarians joined the Elks in inviting the convention to this city.

MAGNUS JOHHNSON IN TOWN TODAY

U. S. Senator and Wife Enroute From Grand Rapids to Farm Home at Kimball

ATE DINNER IN BRAINERD

Strenuous Week For Magnus, Ranging From Oats Stacking to Speech Making

U. S. Senator Magnus Johnson, candidate for re-election, and Mrs. Johnson stopped in Brainerd Wednesday noon, long enough to eat dinner at the Harrison cafe. They were enroute from Grand Rapids to their farm home at Kimball.

At Grand Rapids Tuesday Senator Johnson made the principal address before the convention of Disabled War Veterans. His opponent, Hon. Thomas Schall, was also one of the speakers. The two will meet again upon the same platform at Kimball, Senator Johnson's home town, on Friday at an American Legion field day program.

This has been a strenuous week for the Senator. He stated that he spent Monday on his farm, stacking oats all day. On Tuesday he drove to Grand Rapids where he spoke before the veterans. He will be at home to look after farm work on Thursday, on Friday he speaks at Kimball, and on Saturday at Garden City at the Blue Earth County fair. He will speak at the Crow Wing county fair on the last day of that exposition.

"Everywhere I go I find splendid support," said Senator Johnson. "Never in my political career has our campaign held such promise as does this one. The ranks of my supporters are increasing every day."

Recently the senator visited the northern part of the state where he attended to government business in connection with the Lake of the Woods Lower Water Association. The present high stage of the lake and other bodies of water in that vicinity has flooded much farm land, and in consequence many farmers have been driven out of that district. In an effort to help these farmers, both the Canadian and United States government is looking into the present situation, in which Senator Johnson seems keenly interested. Forty-five farmers met with the senator and other government representatives and relief is expected in the near future, together with about a half million dollars in money which is to be paid out for damages done to the settlers.

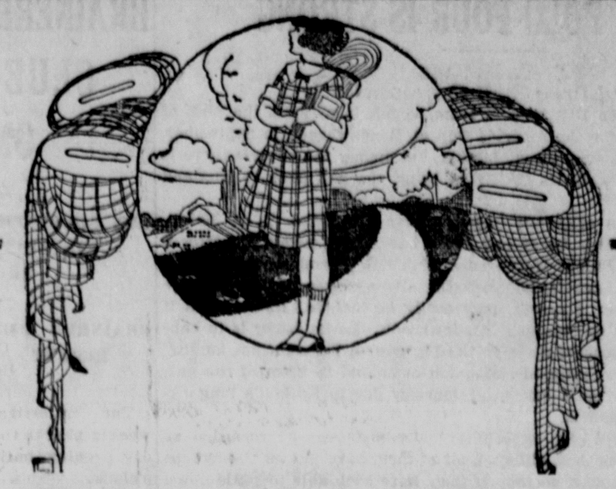

Senator Johnson is making a careful and intensive campaign, he states, with speaking dates practically every day from the present time until late in October. He plans to cover his district very thoroughly and leave no stone unturned in getting in touch with the voters.

The senator expressed his regret in not seeing Representative Harold Knutson, who was in Brainerd on Tuesday conferring with Veteran Bureau trainees in the Brainerd district. Mr. Knutson left on Wednesday morning for the northern part of the state.

Senator Johnson stated that he found crops generally in very good condition, although not as far advanced as in former years. He stated that Northern Minnesota has had more rain this season than the southern part of the state. There was quite a heavy frost at Grand Rapids on Tuesday night, the senator stated, which is quite unusual at this time of the year.

Mrs. Johnson says that it is not her custom to accompany her husband in his rounds of the district. She much prefers to remain on the farm where there is plenty to do to keep her busy. But she came on the Grand Rapids trip in the hope of procuring a supply of blue berries for canning. The crop is very light this year, however, and she did not succeed in getting very many.

The Johnson's continued to Kimball on Wednesday afternoon.

BRITISH POLO FOUR IS STRONG

By P. M. Sarl
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

London, Aug. 13.—The British polo team, which is to meet the pick of America in the contests for the America Cup at Meadowbrook in September, is freely admitted to be a strong combination, but among the experts there is not too much optimism as to its ability to bring the cup back to England this year.

The British team, as originally selected, was Lieut.-Col. T. P. Melvil, Major T. W. Kirkwood, Lewis Lacey and Major Vivian N. Lockett, but after a few games, Major G. H. Phipps-Hornby and Major E. Hurndall were substituted for Kirkwood and Lockett, although these two players accompany the team as reserves—reserves, however, may easily be included in the team if they show improved form on reaching Meadowbrook. Lewis Lacey is to captain the side, though if Lockett plays in the big games, I should not be surprised to see the Anglo-Argentinian relinquish command in favor of the gallent Lancer major, if only as a matter of courtesy due to Lockett's long experience of international games.

The six men named, would, in ordinary circumstances be regarded as strong enough for anything, but, although all of them have played throughout the trial matches this summer, no four of them have been able to settle down to serious practice as a team, and the critics contend that they should have been selected last year and allowed to gain team-practice this summer, instead of virtually having to play for their places.

Misfortune has dogged British polo this year. The abnormally wet period, which ruined the first month of the season, would have been bad enough for anything, but disaster came early when Lord Wodehouse, scheduled to captain the side for America, and perhaps the finest defensive player in the country, had a nasty spill and broke a wrist. Immediately following that, Major Kirkwood dislocated a shoulder, and, although he recovered in time to be definitely selected, his play in the final matches showed such deterioration that he was promtly displaced by Phipps-Hornby.

The soft grounds on which the Britishers have had to play practically every match must militate against their chances on the hard grounds common to America, as the team never seemed to get up the hurricane speed necessary for international polo against America. The ponies, too, did not get much chance of doing themselves justice on the wet grounds, and will find changed conditions underfoot novel and disconcerting. As to whether the ponies are equal to those which will carry the American defenders, the point cannot be decided until they can be compared, animal for animal, at Meadowbrook. The general impression is that the British ponies will prove inferior, but naturally, we have to rely on hearsay for an opinion as to the merits of America's ponies.

For the players, it is an absolute calamity that Lord Wodehouse cannot take club for England, but in Major Hurndale the selectors have found a splendid substitute. After witnessing nearly all the trial matches this year, I felt that it was difficult to see how he could be left out of the team, even with Lord Wodehouse playing. He is brilliant in defense and attack, and, although normally playing No. 3 this year, he can turn himself into a match-winning forward. With Lewis behind him in goal, Hurndall can be relied upon to take a strong hand in the attack, and his long hitting and accurate placing should give a "nippy" well-mounted No. 1 innumerable scoring opportunities.

Of Lacey there is little that need be said. He is generally conceded to be the best back England has seen for many a long year, and many claim he is the best back in the world. It was a great piece of luck for England that Olympic rules prevented him playing in the Olympic tournament for his adopted country—Argentina. Incidentally, how good Argentine polo is today, was emphasized by the fact that the South American team actually won the Olympic tournament without Lacey. His defense is wonderful, and he supplements long hitting and extremely accurate passing by brilliant individual runs which the opposing backs can rarely stop. He is one of the few players who may dare stop a ball in the air with the deliberate intention of scoring from the hit. Anything within range of Lacey's pony or club is liable to result in a scoring shot, or a long pass, enabling his forwards to do the trick. Lacey is not greedy with the ball, but when he starts a run on his own it is with the definit idea that he can score. And generally does. The American forwards will be hard put to it to circumvent him, and their backs will have to keep an eye on him all the time. Of course, Devereux Milburn is used to this sort of thing, for he plays the same game himself, but I personally do not envy America's No. 1 the job of keeping Lacey quiet and at the same time of getting past his defense.

Melvil and Phipps-Hornby, who will presumably be England's regular forwards, are dashing players, who like to keep things moving. With Lacey and Hurndall behind them, they will not be afraid of keeping up the field in the vicinity of the American goal, and Melvil, in particular, plays the game at breakneck speed, and as it is played by Americans. Of all the British players, Melvil is perhaps the man most likely to beat the Americans at their own game. Melvil and Milburn are old opponents, and a contest between them for the ball is a treat for all enthusiasts.

Phipps-Hornby, an artilleryman, is a tried player, of great brilliance and an extraordinary shot at goal. There is some difference of opinion as to whether he is equal to Kirkwood, giving the latter good health, but he is well worthy of a place in any side. Lockett is familiar with American grounds and methods of play, and is always liable to rise to great heights when things are at their worst. His form this season has been somewhat in-and-out. At times he played with brilliance surpassing all expectations, at others he was distinctly moderate. Naturally, a back, or No. 3, Lockett knows when to attack, and is a deadly shot at goal from any position. Kirkwood was regarded as indispensable to an English team at the beginning of the season, but he has not been in good health, and his accident left its effects. Long play in India has accustomed him to hard grounds, and he plays at top speed all the time.

The problem, therefore, exercising the experts and critics is: "Are the ponies good enough?" "Can they adapt themselves to changed conditions underfoot, after the deplorably soft grounds on which they have had to play this season, and can they work up that extra speed so necessary in games against an American side?" Also: "Can the players adapt themselves to different conditions in the short space of time at their disposal for practice?" Give an affirmative answer to all these questions and—well, it should be a fine series of games. That is about as far as the average British expert will commit himself. Given equal conditions, the British team is good enough for anybody or anything. But how good are the Americans—men and ponies? We shall have to wait until September for the answer.
